CODE OF ETHICS

Members of the Midwest Sociological Society subscribe to and are bound by the Code of Ethics of the American Sociological Association.

To read the Code in its entirety, please visit the ASA online at www.ASAnet.org and follow the link to "Ethics."

MSS members are reminded that harassment of any type, particularly including sexual, racial, disability or gender-identity, is unethical in any professional setting, and that the annual meeting of the Midwest Sociological Society constitutes such a professional setting. Instances of harassment should be reported as soon as possible to the Professional Issues and Standards Committee.

GENERAL INFORMATION

ATM: Located in the East Tower Main lobby, East Tower near check-in desk and West Tower Lobby.

Awards Presentations: Thursday, April 18, 5:00 PM, in Regency B.

Copying, printing, computer use: A Business Center is located on the Exhibit Level (East Tower) of the hotel. Full Service access is available during regular business hours, Monday through Friday between 6:00am – 7:00pm. It is open on weekends from 7:00am – 5:00pm.

Email / Internet access: Complimentary wireless internet access in both the sleeping and meeting rooms. Check at the MSS Registration/Information Center if a password is needed.

Elevators: Elevators between the West Tower meeting spaces are located near Regency A (Ballroom level) and Soldier Field (Concourse Level). Elevators to the West Tower lobby from the Concourse Level are located across from Wrigley meeting room. To access the 3rd floor meeting rooms (Addams, Ogden and Wright), use West Tower main elevators.

Escalator: Escalators are available throughout the hotel. Access by escalator is available to all meeting spaces in the West Tower and to the lobbies in the East Tower.

Fitness Facilities: The hotel's 24-hour fitness center overlooks downtown Chicago, the Chicago River, and Navy Pier. Take advantage of cardio machines, free weights, and strength training equipment and enjoy extras like cold towels, magazines, fruit, or a spare pair of headphones. The Fitness Center is located on the Skyway Level (West Tower).

Food & beverage in the hotel:

- MARKET CHICAGO offers a grab-and-go selection of coffee, sandwiches, fresh fruit, pastries, smoothies, alcohol and more. Open 24 hours, this is a great option if you don't have time to spare. Market Chicago is located in the East Tower Lobby, 1st floor, and is sure to be busy!
- AMERICAN KRAFT KITCHEN & BAR is located in the main lobby (East Tower) and provides locally sourced farm-to-table cuisine and handcrafted beverages. Open for breakfast (6-11am), lunch (11am-3pm) and dinner (5-11pm).
- THE LIVING ROOM offers fare from locally sourced ingredients. Enjoy innovative cooking techniques as you view the rotating art collection in this casual lounge located on the Skyway Level (West Tower). Open 11am-9pm Wednesday and Thursday, 11am-11pm Friday and Saturday.
- BIG BAR is a lounge located in the Hyatt Regency Chicago East Tower Lobby mezzanine. This is "the continent's longest free-standing bar." Enjoy the views of downtown Chicago while enjoying a beverage with friends. Opens at 5pm Wednesday, Friday and Saturday; open 6-10pm Thursday.
- STETSONS MODERN STEAK + SUSHI is located in the main lobby (East Tower) near the guest room elevators. This restaurant is a nontraditional steakhouse that offers internationally inspired dishes prepared with sustainably-sourced beef, seafood, and produce. Open 5-10pm nightly.
- IN-ROOM dining is available 6:00am – 10:00pm. Please note, times are subject to change based on occupancy levels.

Lactation Room: A lactation room is located in the West Tower, Skyway level. It is located inside the restroom with its own door and space that locks. There is also a TV inside to help pass the time away.

Lost and found: Please check with volunteers at the MSS Registration Center.

MSS Registration/Information Centers: Regency Foyer, Ballroom Level.

Public Transportation: Chicago has an extensive network of public transportation, including the "L," Chicago Water Taxi, and Divvy (bike rental). For more information about public transportation options, please check with the hotel concierge.

Restrooms: Gender neutral restrooms are located on the Ballroom Level of the West Tower, same floor as Registration. Gender-specific restrooms are located one level above on Concourse Level and one level below in the Stetson Conference Suites.

Security: While attending sessions, keep your purse or backpack in front of you, where you can see it at all times, rather than pushing it under the chair on which you're sitting or lock your purse/laptop in your hotel room, and carry only what you need. In-room safes are available in the sleeping rooms.

Smoking: None permitted in the hotel.

Telephones: Please be courteous and turn off or mute your cell phone before sessions or special events begin. If you must take a call, please step outside the room to minimize distraction.

Tours: Tours meet 15 minutes before departure, as noted in the program.

WELCOME

Welcome to Chicago and the 2019 Midwest Sociological Society (MSS) Meetings, our 82nd gathering. We are glad that you are here! Due to the excellent work of the Program Committee, MSS staff and the hundreds of people who submitted sessions and presentations, we have a wonderful meeting to share with you. We've intentionally sought to represent a wide variety of interests in the Program.

This year's theme, Queering/Querying Bodies recognizes the centrality of the body in social life and highlights two approaches that have a long history yet are slowly gaining traction within sociology. Queer theory simultaneously questions taken for granted assumptions about sexuality and gender via a deconstructionist approach. Its influence is increasing across the field and spreading to areas such as research methods. The second, disability, is increasingly included in sociological research and intersectional theory. Despite gains in policy and disability rights, a yawning gap in the research remains. We hope that you will attend sessions focusing on it to hear cutting edge research and to get a sense of the opportunities that yet exist.

In addition to our traditional formats, we've "queered the conference" by organizing sessions in a variety of new approaches:

- Pecha Kucha is a presentation style in which 20 PowerPoint slides are shown for 20 seconds each. These 6 minute and 40 second talks keep presentations concise and focused and leave significant time for discussion.
- Lightning Talks are up to 10 minutes long. They describe a specific finding, technique, project, and/or data or share particularly important information. They intentionally are focused and succinct rather than comprehensive and as a consequence are similar to a brief TEDx talk.
- Democracy Cafes are facilitated conversations intended to create a forum for open discussion across a range of perspectives. They focus on specific sociological issues, concerns, methodologies, and theories/theoretical approaches. They are intentionally democratic; mutual understanding, rather than consensus, is the goal.
- Three Minute Thesis (3MTr) competition for undergraduate and graduate students. Founded at the University of Queensland-Australia and now an international sensation, 3MTr challenges participants to articulate compelling descriptions of their research and its significance in just three minutes. The MSS Board has provided significant awards for the winners.

We encourage you to attend and to provide us with feedback regarding these new approaches.

We happily welcome back Alpha Kappa Delta (AKD) and the Chicago Area Sociology Teachers (CAST) for a conference within a conference and thank Dr. Jeff Chin and Ms. Hayley Lotspeich for making this possible.

We have three, very exciting plenaries for you:

Dr. Aldon Morris, acclaimed sociologist and Leon Forrest Professor of Sociology and African American Studies at Northwestern University will present W. E. B. Du Bois at the Center: From Science, Civil Rights Movement to Black Lives Matter.

Dr. Tey Meadow, Columbia University, a rising star in the field and author of Trans Kids: Being Gendered in the Twenty-First Century will present Bodies at Risk: Trans Youth and Vulnerability Discourse.

Ms. Katherine Perez, J.D. and award winning founder of the National Coalition for LatinXs with Disabilities will present A Critical Race and Disability Legal Studies Approach to Immigration Policy and Reform.

We are once again proud to partner with the Society for the Study of Symbolic Interaction (SSSI) to host the annual Peter Hall Lecture presented by Dr. Gary Alan Fine, the James E. Johnson Professor of Sociology at Northwestern University. The title of his talk is A Letter to Young Interactionists: On Being-in-a-Meaningful-World.

Recognizing the importance of connection, we've organized all manner of opportunities to socialize including the annual Ice Cream Social, MeetUps, Welcoming and Presidential Receptions and a Queer Social. Please look for them interspersed throughout the Program.

Given the conference theme and the great need in the LBGQTQIA+ community, please seriously consider a donation to the Center on Halsted, 3656 N. Halsted St., Chicago, IL 60613-5974, 773.661.0764, <http://www.centeronhalsted.org/>. The Center works diligently to secure the health and well-being of the community in Chicagoland.

Conferences like this one result from the work of many. I would like to thank the Program Committee for their stellar advice and work, the many volunteer session organizers, presiders and participants for their myriad contributions, the MSS Board of Directors for their support, Ms. Meggan Lee and Mr. J. Dalton Stevens for ensuring that students' interests are addressed, and especially MSS staff, Ms. Jennifer Talarico and Dr. Sadie Pendaz-Foster for ensuring every detail has been carefully considered.

Thursday, April 18

Jane Addams Hull House Museum

Gender and Sexuality Tour 10:00 AM – 11:30 AM $26 per person

Meet in the lobby near the front door/escalator at 9:15 AM. The bus will leave the hotel at 9:30 AM and return at 12:30 PM.

The Jane Addams Hull House is a celebrated center for Chicago's rich history of social reformers and social justice advocates, including Jane Addams' legacy for working in immigrant communities and in the peace movement. Addams is also revered for breaking the boundaries of normative gender, sexuality, family, and community in the way that she lived her life. Because of this, she is considered an early visionary of the LGBT rights movement. Hull House serves as a modern home for the vision of the settlement house movement, as they bridge history, research, and social engagement. This interactive tour will zoom in on linking early 20th century stories of pushing the boundaries of gender and sexuality to contemporary struggles for LGBT rights and justice.

Self-Guided Tours

Free self-guided tour handouts will be available at the MSS Registration Center. Choose an interesting excursion or grab a ride to a local hot spot. Don't miss out on what Chicago has in store for you!

2019 CERTIFICATE ON RACE, ETHNICITY & INEQUALITY

The MSS Certificate of Race, Ethnicity, and Inequality is a certification program organized by the Minority Scholars Committee of MSS. This program provides a structure for you to focus your conference participation around issues of racial and ethnic inequality – how it is produced, reproduced and resisted through individual efforts and institutional structures. By completing the certification process you will be able to document and will be recognized for your participation in sessions focused on race, ethnicity, intersectionality and inequality. In order for you to receive the MSS Certificate of Race, Ethnicity, and Inequality, you need to attend 5 sessions (verified by a signature from the session organizer at the end of each session you attend) and write a brief reflection on your learning.

For more information about the certificate process or to pick up a complete roster of eligible sessions for this certificate, please stop by the Registration desk in the Regency Foyer.

Instructors of commuter-student populations face a range of immediate challenges including supporting marginalized student needs, mobilizing available institutional resources, and creating meaningful spaces where students can share ideas and learn from one another. In this workshop, we will share our perspectives teaching at different institutions -- one more rural and one more urban -- regarding how to support LGBTQIA+ and DACA students specifically. We will instruct participants how to understand student identities and experiences and mobilize institutional resources. Student participants in our programs will also share their experiences with support structures created by sociologists.

52 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ] WRIGLEY THURSDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM

CONSCIOUS AGING: CONSIDERATIONS OF THE SECOND HALF OF LIFE

People are living healthy lives much longer, opening opportunities for persons approaching the 'second half' of life to explore and create new ways to put their gifts and talents to work during their wisdom years. In this highly interactive Democracy Café, participants will engage in a provocative conversation about growing into the second half of life with intention and consciousness. The facilitators will set the stage by briefly introducing the topic and sharing trends and issues surrounding aging and expertise in the emerging fields. The goal of this Café is for you to come away with some new possibilities for thinking about, and hopefully better understanding, what the second half of life might offer you.

Facilitators: Elaine Millam, Graceful Passages
Marlynn May, Texas A&M Health Science Center

53 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ] WRIGLEY THURSDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM

UNAPOLOGETICALLY SOCIOLOGICAL

In this Democracy Café, we discuss the backlash for speaking up and calling out social injustice, as well as the controversy over naming the structural causes of social violence (i.e. police shootings, school shootings, #MeToo, border patrols, family separation). We lead discussion about being unapologetic for pointing out the systemic failures that lead to social pain and violence. We will call out, among others, hegemonic masculinity, institutional racism, white fragility and hetero-patriarchy, in order to name structural causes that inevitably hold us all accountable.

Facilitators: Ronald Ferguson, Ridgewater College
Charlotte Kunkel, Luther College

54 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]WRIGLEY*THURSDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM*INTEGRATING ANIMALS INTO SOCIAL RESEARCH

In this Democracy Café, we will discuss the centrality of animals to the lives of humans. Despite this centrality, this relationship and animals themselves are often ignored or under-examined by sociologists in the research process. We will explore, discuss and develop strategies on how to acknowledge the role animals play in human lives and how to incorporate this into research processes.

Facilitators: Candace Korasick, University of Missouri Columbia
Nathan Katz, University of Missouri Columbia

55 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]WRIGLEY*THURSDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM*TEACHING SEXUALITY: SOCIAL CONSTRUCTION VERSUS THE GAY GENE, CAN SOCIOLOGY BRIDGE THE DIVIDE?

In the current socio-political climate, sexualities research and gender and sexual minorities are increasingly under attack. As sociologists and teachers of sociology, we need to understand how genetics and biological sciences construct gender and sexuality in order to effectively teach a sociological perspective to students who may subscribe to a biological essentialist view of sexuality. These include future medical professionals since the MCAT now requires introductory sociology. In this Democracy Café, we will engage in thoughtful conversation about how to teach about gender and sexuality from a sociological perspective while taking into account the frameworks of biological essentialism present.

Facilitators: Monica Jarvi, University of Minnesota Twin Cities
Allison Nobles, University of Minnesota Twin Cities

56 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]WRIGLEY*THURSDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM*MEGA FARMS, GMO FOOD PRODUCTION, AND THE FUTURE OF THE GUYANA SHIELD

In this Café, we examine the intrusion of large scale Genetically Modified Foods (GMO) into the region of the Guyana/Brazil border, which is likely to negatively impact the environment, livelihoods and future of indigenous communities. We will examine existing and projected Mega Farms and their environmental threats to the fresh water, air quality, rich biodiversity and population of the area. Recent political changes in Brazil further challenge the ecological stability for the Guyana shield, which is a more than two billion year old geological formation that covers roughly 270 million hectares in the South American Countries of Guyana, Suriname, French Guiana, Venezuela and small parts of Colombia and northern Brazil.

Facilitators: Wazir Mohamed, Indiana University East

QUEER 101: WHAT IS QUEER?

Queer Theory is slippery like mercury. Although it is increasingly influential in sociology, it is difficult to define because it is interdisciplinary, eschews categorization and embraces fluidity. At its core, Queer Theory questions taken for granted assumptions about gender and sexuality but extends far beyond that. This workshop, then, embraces this complexity and provides an overview of Queer Theory and ways of making sense of it. It introduces attendees to queer concepts, theory and implications for research, teaching and identities.

VIRTUAL REALITY: A HANDS-ON DEMONSTRATION AND DISCUSSION OF ITS USE IN THE CLASSROOM

Virtual reality (VR) offers hope of increasing empathy through the ability to have immersive virtual experiences in someone else's body. In the past year, we have used VR in two separate sociology-based classrooms to provide students different mediums to interact with content related to gender, race, and class. Participants in this workshop will have the opportunity to experience some of the VR experiences we have utilized and learn how to implement VR in their classrooms. Challenges and key strategies to successfully implement VR will be discussed. Attendees will leave with materials, ideas, and tips for making their classrooms more interactive and engaging through the use of VR.

123 - [WORKSHOP]SAN FRANCISCO*FRIDAY • 8:00 AM–9:30 AM*DOING PHENOMENOLOGICALLY INFORMED RESEARCH IN SOCIOLOGY

Society for Phenomenology and the Human Sciences Session

This workshop addresses the practice of phenomenologically informed research in sociology. Sociologists often think of phenomenological research as anti-scientific or as simply an attempt to understand the subjective perspectives of social actors. Articulated in these ways, phenomenology is seen as one of many “qualitative methods” and therefore has little to offer sociological researchers. This workshop will address the proper role of phenomenology in sociological research suggesting that it can inform both qualitative and quantitative research in ways that bring new insights to our understanding of the social world. A plan of action for phenomenologically informed sociological research will be presented.

Facilitators: Phenomenological Sociology -- Jerry Williams, Stephen F. Austin State University
Research in Phenomenology -- Erik Garrett, Duquesne University

FILM SCREENING: ALL THE DIFFERENCE

MSS First Generation Task Force Session

Presider: Patricia Maddox, University of St Thomas

Discussant: Patricia Maddox, University of St Thomas

Come view the powerful documentary film, All the Difference, directed by Tod Lending, and produced by Wes Moore and Joy Thomas Moore. This film traces the lives of two college bound first-generation, Black male students from the South Side of Chicago. Robert applies to Lake Forest College and Krishaun to Fisk University. Their college experiences are presented alongside the larger national statistics on student loans, retention and other issues facing first-generation students. The film follows Robert and Krishaun for five years to college graduation and beyond into the beginning of their future careers. Support from family, teachers, mentors, advisors combined with the sheer determination of these first-generation students paved their path to success. They both share a commitment to give back to their community and help other first-generation students, while discovering new life goals made possible by their college experience.

230 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]WRIGLEY*SATURDAY • 9:45 AM–11:15 AM*GENDER INEQUALITY IN THE ACADEMY

While women now account for more than half (56%) of all undergraduate students and earn more than half (52%) of all PhD's nationwide, there are still clear gender inequalities within the academy. Women academics earn less than their male colleagues, are more likely to serve in non-tenure-track positions than men, and are less likely to advance to the rank of Full Professor than their male counterparts. Female faculty also report differential (often heavier and less prestigious) service and teaching loads, which may hamper their opportunities for career advancement. In this Democracy Café we will explore the complex factors that contribute to gender inequality in the academy, and the possible solutions to this persistent gender gap.

Facilitator: Jacqueline Hogan, Bradley University

231 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]WRIGLEY*SATURDAY • 9:45 AM–11:15 AM*MANAGING STUDENT MENTAL HEALTH DISCLOSURE

This Café will offer the opportunity for us to openly discuss the risks and benefits of student mental health disclosure in college. Recognizing that many students struggle with their mental health over the course of their college career, yet students with mental health issues face a great deal of stigma from their peers. The awareness that a student has a mental health problem also has the potential to negatively affect our interactions. It can be a challenge to maintain the educator role, while expressing concern and helping students navigate treatment options. As faculty, we can counter the stigma, model respectful interaction, and assist students as they reach out for help.

Facilitator: Bridget Conlon, St Cloud State University

232 - [DEMOCRACY CAFÉ]SESSION WITHDRAWN*SATURDAY • 9:45 AM–11:15 AM*QUESTIONING THE NEW POOR PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN'S CAPACITY TO RESOLVE "EVIL" IN AMERICA

In this Democracy Café, we consider the effectiveness of the New Poor People's Campaign. How can this campaign begin to resolve overwhelmingly large, systemic issues? The Poor People's Campaign of 1968, led by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. called for change to what Dr. King called America's "triple evils:" racism, militarism, and economic exploitation. Today's New Poor People's Campaign seeks the same outcomes as the first, only taking a fourth "evil" into consideration--environmental degradation. While the leaders of the campaign know what they want--and what Dr. King wanted--they will need a comprehensive plan to change centuries' worth of "evil" in America.

Facilitator: Emily Whitney, University of Central Missouri

SATURDAY • 9:45 AM–11:15 AM

DO SOCIOLOGICAL THEORY COURSES NEED THE CANON?

In this Democracy Café, we will discuss how relevant and necessary Marx, Weber, and/or Durkheim continue to be in undergraduate sociological theory courses. Instructors of theory are tasked with the unenviable, and impossible, purpose of providing an overview of the history of sociology as a discipline, sociological theory (both classical and contemporary). At the end of the course, the goal is that sociology majors will be prepared to apply some level of sociological theory in their senior thesis projects. In this cafe, we will discuss whether or not spending less time on “canonical figures” and more time on the skills and processes involved in sociological theorizing may serve students better.

Jeffrey Seymour, Carthage College

2018-19 ASA MINORITY FELLOW

Midwest Sociological Society supports the American Sociological Association's Minority Fellowship Program by sponsoring one Fellow throughout the year. We are proud to introduce the 2018-19 MSS-sponsored Minority Fellow, Bianca Gonzalez-Sobrino, a PhD candidate from the University of Connecticut.

Bianca received her bachelor's degree from the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras and her master's degree from Mississippi State University, both in sociology. Her research interests include race and racism, ethnicity, media, and culture. Her dissertation, titled "Competing to Survive: Identity and Racial Threat in Puerto Rican Hartford," examines the racial identity formation processes of Puerto Ricans in Hartford, Connecticut as a mechanism of racial threat and ethnic competition, and the ways in which physical space is negotiated in a predominantly Latinx city. Bianca uses ethnographic and interview methods to draw on the experiences of the Puerto Rican diaspora to explore issues of race, identity, belonging, and racial negotiation. Previously, she has explored the role of racialization in the media, and the construction of Puerto Ricans in relation to social belonging and exclusion. Her work has been published in Critical Sociology, Sociology Compass, Sociology of Sport Journal, Contexts, and Ethnic and Racial Studies. Bianca is a former Jackie McLean Fellow from the University of Hartford and has received several prestigious awards from her university. Outside of her research, Bianca is committed to social justice and racial equality through teaching and service.

SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY
DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

Sociology Undergraduates and MA students: Are you interested in furthering your education? Do you want to teach sociology? Do you want to continue your training in conducting sociological research? Do you want to earn a PhD? Please visit <http://cola.siu.edu/sociology/> for more information about our MA and PhD programs.

Are you looking for a graduate program that emphasizes diversity and rigor in theory and methods? A professional, supportive, and collegial atmosphere? Training in teaching and research? An affordable and beautiful surrounding community with hiking, coffee houses, farmer's markets, music, and more?

The Sociology Department at Southern Illinois University Carbondale welcomes applications from undergraduates with BA/BS degrees and students with MA degrees. Our small department prides itself on delivering the 'big-department' education as well as one-on-one mentoring you need to further your training and achieve your career goals. We are extremely proud of our placement record: our PhD students get jobs in academia every year.

Major areas of concentration (see our website for more on faculty interests):

- ❖ Sex and gender (Kristen Barber: social construction of gender/body; Rachel Whaley: attitudes about gender, gender inequality; Chris Wienke: men's studies, marriage/family; Bobbi Knapp (Dept. of Kinesiology): sports and gender)
- ❖ Sexualities (Wienke, Whaley)
- ❖ Environmental sociology, Community Development (Jessica Crowe)
- ❖ Collective behavior and social movements (J.-P. Reed, Darren Sherkat, William Danaher)
- ❖ Political sociology (Reed, Sherkat)
- ❖ Social inequalities (Danaher, Reed, Whaley, Wienke, Crowe)
- ❖ Cultural sociology (Reed, Danaher, Jyotsna Kapur (Dept. of Cinema/Photography))
- ❖ Religion (Sherkat, J. Tobin Grant (Dept. of Political Science))

The Programs in Brief:

- ❖ The MA program is two years and includes coursework and an MA research paper.
- ❖ The PhD program takes on average 3-4 years for those who continue from our MA program and between 4 and 6 years for those who enter with a BA/BS degree or an MA degree.
- ❖ Funding is available in the form of university fellowships and graduate teaching assistantships.

How to apply? Undergraduates need a 3.0 GPA; MA students need a 3.25 graduate GPA. Have your required GRE scores sent to Sociology at SIU Carbondale. Visit <http://gradschool.siu.edu/applygrad/> to submit an online application which includes a personal statement (with discussion of research experience or interest), a writing sample, three letters of reference, official transcripts (unofficial are initially acceptable), and curriculum vitae. CONTACT Rachel Whaley at rwhaley@siu.edu with any questions.

Through the Iowa State University

Department of Sociology graduate programs, students will be...

SUPPORTED.

World-class faculty and staff provide students with mentorship, and students have many professional development opportunities both on and off campus, including financial assistance for travel to key conferences. Most students also receive financial support through research or teaching assistantships in the department or across campus.

CREATIVE.

As a Carnegie Research I institution, Iowa State University and the Department of Sociology welcome students from every background to ask creative and original questions and contribute valuable research to the field.

PREPARED.

100 percent of graduates leave the program and enter into a wide variety of occupations, including faculty, research and administrative positions in academia, and both government and non-governmental organizations.

DEGREES OFFERED:

Master of Science
Ph.D.

AREAS OF STUDY AND SPECIALIZATION:

Study with award-winning faculty at Illinois State University!

Our Master's program emphasizes research and content training. You will study social theory, research design and qualitative and quantitative methods to inform your thesis research. We complement these courses with topical seminars in the various areas of sociology and independent studies with our world-class faculty. Your master's thesis will be supervised by at least three faculty members, who will work closely with you to ensure a summative project that showcases the rigorous research methods, clear and effective writing, and critical analytic skills that our program teaches. We keep our cohorts small to ensure a great deal of one-on-one interaction between students and faculty.

Faculty Clusters of Expertise

- Family studies, personal relationships and the life-course
- Development, community and environment
- Political economy, work and migration
- Gender, queer studies and sociology of the body

ILLINOIS STATE UNIVERSITY

Illinois' first public university

We offer competitive graduate assistantships, which involve 20 hours of work per week working with a professor as a Teaching Assistant in our undergraduate courses. Each graduate assistant receives a 100% waiver of tuition costs and a monthly stipend of around $950/month. Students that do not receive full funding through our assistantship program may receive a waiver for their tuition costs. The full financial package that a Sociology Graduate Assistant receives is worth between $44,000 and $63,000.
