Code of Ethics

Members of the Midwest Sociological Society and the North Central Sociological Association
subscribe to and are bound by the Code of Ethics of the American Sociological Association.

To read the Code in its entirety, please visit the ASA online at www.ASAnet.org and follow the link to "Ethics."

Members are reminded that sexual or racial harassment is unethical in any professional setting, and that the annual meetings constitute such professional settings. Instances of harassment should be reported as soon as possible.

Welcome

Welcome to the 2010 joint MSS-NCSA annual meeting. This promises to be an intellectually stimulating, socially exciting meeting—the largest the MSS or NCSA ever sponsored!

In our theme, Communities in an Age of Social Transformation, we used the word communities because we believe it essential for sociology to come to terms with the myriad ways and reasons that people bind themselves to others. At the same time, a person would be hard-pressed to find any topic of interest to sociologists that cannot be linked to the idea of community. In our original thematic statement, we noted that framing sociological topics in terms of community raises a fundamental sociological question: What are the bases of social solidarity? This question, in turn, engenders another: How is society possible? We hope you will find the varied ways that sociologists respond to these questions embedded throughout the meetings.

We also want to draw your attention to the plenary events: Keynote speaker Ann Swidler will talk Friday afternoon on “Visions of Community: Chiefs, Churches and Human Rights in Contemporary Malawi.” You won’t want to miss her presentation! As a joint meeting, we offer two presidential addresses: Diane Pike will speak on “The Tyranny of Dead Ideas” Thursday at 5:30, and Katherine R. Rowell’s address, “Possibilities and Pitfalls of Professional Sociology Associations: The Community College Conundrum,” takes place Friday at 9:45. Finally, you won’t want to miss the commons session Thursday morning at 9:45 with an intriguing choice of topics; the annual Ice Cream Social Thursday at 2:45; and Peter Hall Lecturer Hugh Mehan on Friday at 5:30. See your program for more details—and to browse the almost 400 scheduled sessions. And please save some time to enjoy Chicago itself. David Boden has arranged tours that will intrigue both newcomers and regular visitors to this great city. If you missed the tours, just walk outside the hotel to enjoy shopping, the arts, the hustle-bustle, noise and sights of Chicago—home of the first skyscraper and great blues.

Many thanks to all who helped us through the complexity of putting together a joint conference. But a very special thanks to Ruth Symons, our program administrator, who tirelessly (and with little sleep!) kept us organized. Chad McPherson, MSS student representative extraordinaire, put in many hours organizing homeless papers. MSS Executive Director Lauren Tiffany gently and firmly kept us all on task and on schedule. Brad Smith of MeetingSavvy.com needs to be commended for his patience with our technology naiveté. Of course, we also need to thank Diane Pike and Katherine R. Rowell for moral support and sage advice from two people who have been through this before. We couldn’t have done it without you!

Please join us in the conversation in Chicago.

MSS Committees

The Midwest Sociological Society's committees and their members are listed below. The lists include both outgoing and incoming committee members. New committee members begin their service by attending the committee's meeting at the annual meeting. Outgoing committee members conclude their service in the year designated beside their name. The schedule of committee meetings appears in the front of this program book: Each committee meeting is designated with a session number. If unsure which committee meetings to attend, please find your name in the list of committee members on these pages; and then check the schedule of committee meetings in the front of this book.
